

The abundance of ASVs in baby samples of different birth modes that can be attributed to different maternal vaginal source

